The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING APRIL 8 1878.

THE GREENBACK PARTY

The philosopher and mentor of the Greenback party of Oregon Judge Lawson of Salem, expressing the new financial wisdom of the time says The greenbackers want government to issue two thousand mill ones of dollars, or an amount sufficient to pay off the funded national debt using the coin now in the treasury to pay off the interest on this debt" This is plain enough Lest some timid person should fear that this currency issued in quantity so vast and wholly irredeemable, may at not be worth much this provision is added Said issue of money we require to be national greenbacks of full legal tender power equivalent to gold and silver coin We are glad this is required It anticipates an objection that otherwise would be very serious and might be fatal A declaratory statement from congress would make these greenbacks equivalent to silver and gold, of course or perhaps a resolution by a convention of the greenback party would do it. But somehow it is the universal experience of mankind in all times and under every form of government that when large quantities of legal tender paper currency have been issued gold and silver have taken them selves away to the most secret and undiscoverable of hiding places and from these places no laws, even though denouncing punishment by torture and death itself have been able to draw them Two thousand millions of government paper drawing no interest and with no prospect of redemption would be about at par with the paper currency of the late Confederate States of America

In Washington territory there are greenbackers too One of them sets forth the new monetary science through a Seattle paper He says- "Once fix in mind that it is the statutory enactments the mandatory expression the sovereign will of the government that gives to any substance, be it gold silver or paper, the power of money and not the substance itself and we have gained a very important step in the solution of this monetary question This would be very important, if true But it so happens that it is not the sovereign will of the government that gives value either to gold silver or paper Gold and silver have value, whether backed by statutory enactments or not and paper has value only as it is to be redeemed in gold silver, or something else of known value Gold and silver, whether coined or not, will buy anything offered for sale in any country In dust, bars ingots, or any shape whatever, they are good in New York London Paris, Canton, Valparaiso, Seattle or anywhere else With us the additional value they have when coined by our government is the mere cost of coinage—perhaps three quarters of one per cent. This is the measure of the convenience of having them converted from bullion into coin at public cost Abroad they don't care for the stamp of our government on coins of gold and silver, but estimate them merely as bullion. As for paper currency, it isn't the "mandatory expression" of government that gives it a value, but the prospect of its redemption If statutory enactments could do so much why were our greenbacks at one time worth less than forty cents on the dollar? They were backed by the 'mandatory expression" of the government then, the same as now But because people couldn't be confident they would be redeemed with actual money, their depreciation was great At the present time there are manifest signs of the ability and willingness of the country to redeem them; and this process is expected to begin shortly Hence they are quoted nearly up to the value of gold

The whole fallacy of the greenback theory lies in this statement that money depends for its value on the authority of government and not on the material of which money is made The opposite is always and incontestably true We have a paper currency but its value depends not on the command of government that it shall be taken as legal tender for debts, but on the promise of government to redeem it and on the prospect that the promise will be fulfilled Take away this prospect, as the greenbackers would do should they issue their two thousand millions of paper currency, and the mere mandate of the government that it should be received in payment of debts would give it no value at all An individual's paper is good only as he is considered able to redeem it and a government's paper stands on precisely the same ground We should be ashamed to state facts so common and familiar were it not that the organization of a greenback party indicates a strange prevalence of delusions on this subject. It is really not a matter for merriment to find visionary doctrines which have been exploded times without number in the experience of centuries, and which always have brought terrible disaster wherever they have been tried now raised once more, or attempted to be raised to the rank of sound principles, for if the delusion should become general, of which happily there is, however but little danger, it would be atoned for through the same frightful suffering that ever has followed and ever must follow so extreme a departure from the lessons of experience and wisdom W. W.

NO NEED OF ALARM.

By the press of Washington Oregon is accused in direct terms of a desire to keep that territory in the background It is charged with some bitterness that Oregon takes every opportunity to aggrandize herself at the expense of Washington A large share of the blame and the objurgation is heaped on Oregon politicians, including our representatives at Washington City It seems to us entirely wrong to assert that Oregon is jealous of her neighbor True, an Oregon senator assumes that the offices in the territory are largely his own property. True, he has introduced a proposition in the senate looking to the annexation of Walla Walla and Columbia counties to Oregon True it is mainly owing to the efforts that the branch land grant from Yakima across to Puget Sound has been cut off. But it is not right to assume the objections and measures are either prompted or approved by the people of Oregon, as they They do not pretend that they have a right to interfere in the political affairs of Washington territory Nor do they [illegible] of any claim to [illegible] that Oregon has a right to control or dictate [illegible] measure there More than [illegible] to the contrary [illegible] for a [illegible] That there is [illegible] feeling in the territory by Oregon [illegible] deny [illegible] people that are [illegible] ment in order to [illegible] Affairs [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible]

Capitalists [illegible] that [illegible] garrison [illegible] Walla [illegible] The Oregonian [illegible] fifty thousand tons of wheat will [illegible] seek the markets of the world as from [illegible] be reported as Oregon pine the salmon of the Columbia river will be known as Oregon salmon, and so of our hops and wool of our oats and barley and everything we produce that is sent abroad. This is somewhat overdrawn It rarely happens now that anything shipped from Puget sound becomes known abroad as an Oregon product When it is so it occurs probably because the whole of the great northwest was known once as Oregon and people may not have fallen yet into a habit of observing the later political divisions and designating them accordingly As for products of all kinds shipped from the Columbia river though a large portion belongs to Washington it is quite natural that they should be called Oregon products as matter of convenience because they are mostly shipped through Oregon and cleared from Oregon ports The shipping business is done in Oregon, and the custom houses are on the Oregon side That products of Washington going through this channel should become known as Oregon products is not surprising, but quite to be expected It is not because Oregon wants to appropriate or steal the credit of them but because it would be impossible unless there were a reason strong as necessity to keep separate statements showing what is from Washington and what is from Oregon

There is no need of testiness on either side about this matter for in a commercial sense Oregon and Washington are practically one country It may somewhat mitigate the indignation of our friends of the press in Washington to be reminded that the products of their territory and our state together which are largely shipped through San Francisco be come known thereby to the commercial world as products of California and neither Oregon nor Washington gets the credit of them

Oregon and Washington are so much the same in situation and wants and interests that there should be no hostility between them They must develop together Anything that benefits one must help the other Neither can grow in population and wealth unless the other grows with it The small jealousy of our politicians who hope to win favor in Oregon by attempting injustice to Washington will overreach itself Readers of THE OREGONIAN will bear witness that it has steadily opposed every thing of this kind We do not think the interests of Oregon require us to seek favors and advantages at the expense of Washington

Recently Isaac Adams known as the inventor of the Adams printing presses died It is said however, that the press was the idea of a nameless inventor who sold it to Adams for an old gun It is a remarkable fact that though printing presses have multiplied marvelously during the last generation, and though new inventions and improvements are constantly superseding old methods in printing machinery yet the original Adams press is still used in every book publishing house in nearly the same form in which it first appeared All the fine book work and plate printing is done on these presses and it is said that houses like that of the Harpers could hardly issue their publications if deprived of them though any other style of press could be thrown out and replaced by some other without much inconvenience

There is something slightly suggestive in the proposition to provide a special place for the safe keeping of the records of the electoral commission That such precaution should be deemed necessary is worth a thought as times go If these records could be destroyed it might help the Blair programme no little And then if the building containing the confederate archives could be fired and its contents consumed a large class of patriots who are presenting 'claims' might find a much easier way into the United States treasury If the records of the electoral commission and the confederate archives could be put of the way there might be millions in it.

More Eastern Opinion.

[From the New York Sun March 20]

Senator Mitchell, chairman of the senate committee of Pacific Railroads seems to be doing Mr Jay Gould a work in fine style The committee has reported a bill falsely labelled 'a bill to extend the time of the Northern Pacific eight years It is really a bill to destroy the Northern Pacific and to make a new grant from the public domain to Mr Gould's Portland South Pass and Salt Lake road being another feeder of the Union Pacific projected by Mr Gould and a little nest of remarkably accommodating senators whom he has to all appearances at his disposal Inasmuch as Mitchell will be around again this summer for the sweet voices of the people of Oregon to return him to office he perfects to this profit could it may be well for them to make a note of this job The great monopolist will have no rival lines to the Pacific if he can help it and Mitchell is his most obedient servant

Mountaineers.—There was present a good audience at the New Market Theater Saturday afternoon at matinee given on the occasion of the reappearance of the Fenton Mountain Troupe. The programme as rendered on the occasion was repeated In all respects it may be characterized as equal to the preceding one and the performance was creditable to the individual members of the club, and enjoyable to the audience. Saturday evening the club appeared for the last time, on which occasion a crowded house was present Want of space and time prevent individualizing and a more extended notice. It is but just to say that the members of the troupe have shown much cleverness, and have rendered themselves very creditably and we are informed by the manager has been absent for the purpose of procuring a passage has been secured for the party for this port. They propose soon to pay a professional visit to Salem and Albany We can cheerfully commend them to the public favor and would bespeak crowded houses

CITY.

SAD, YET SURPRISED SPECIES —Since the sudden and mysterious disappearance of John Bonty, last Friday night, nothing has been heard of him Mr Birnie the partner with whom Bonty was conversing that night, is quite positive that he leaped into the river from the O S S Co s wharf He says that, after separating, Bonty walked toward the edge of the dock that he quickly disappeared from view and an instant later a loud splash was heard Saturday Bonty's brother in law went to the police office and reported that he could not be found, notwithstanding search had been made for the missing man From all the circumstances the brother in law felt satisfied in his own mind that Bonty had committed suicide He called at some of the police worthies' residences in a buggy the driver of which he asked if some of the police would go out and assist him in dragging the river The officer in charge of the office at the time told him that they could not do that very well but that they could search for the body he said he desired to search for the body he had better employ some one to assist him and then went away But what action if any, has been taken is not known. Scarcely a doubt will be entertained but that Bonty has drowned himself, the water is very deep where he is supposed to have taken the fatal leap and no difficulty may be encountered in recovering the body

RUNAWAY —On Friday as Mr Richards and Miss Carrie Beharrell, daughter of Richards and Miss Carrie Beharrell, were driving in the southwest part of the city were compelled to drive into the mountains to obtain room to turn around and go to church They stopped their horse to discuss the question whether it would be best to go a half a mile from town on the Canyon road and go to church. Just as he finished speaking he espied a pool of blood in the road and on looking further saw that the members of the buggy had disappeared and suddenly started to run. The horse took fright and knocked down a wheel of the buggy passed over the body, frightening him in the face and knocked him senseless. A wheel of the buggy passed over his arm, inflicting a painful bruise. The horse was stopped after running two miles and a half without further damage. The horse was then driven slowly to walk home. The horse was stopped after running two miles and a half without further damage. The horse was then driven slowly to walk home. The buggy sustained no injuries. CONVENTIONS LYCEUM —The Telegram says that an arrangement has been perfected by which the English and German Lutherans, who have for some time jointly owned the O & C R R, O C R R and the O & C Co, divide the property If our information is correct and we think it reliable, the English bondholders take the O C R R, which they have controlled for some time, and the O & C Co, and the German capitalists the O & C R R It is not probable that the change will materially affect the people of Oregon.

SUNDAY MORNING —This (Monday) evening there will be an annual meeting of the legal voters of school district No 1 at the court house at 7½ o'clock. The meeting is for the purpose of hearing a report of the board of trustees and clerk, and also for the purpose of levying a tax for support of the schools during the coming year, and for levying a tax for the purchase of real estate and erecting school houses thereon, and for the transaction of such other business that may come before the meeting A full attendance is desirable

AMUSEMENTS.

Mountaineers.—There was present a good audience at the New Market Theater Saturday afternoon at matinee given on the occasion of the reappearance of the Fenton Mountain Troupe. The programme as rendered on the occasion was repeated In all respects it may be characterized as equal to the preceding one and the performance was creditable to the individual members of the club, and enjoyable to the audience. Saturday evening the club appeared for the last time, on which occasion a crowded house was present Want of space and time prevent individualizing and a more extended notice. It is but just to say that the members of the troupe have shown much cleverness, and have rendered themselves very creditably and we are informed by the manager has been absent for the purpose of procuring a passage has been secured for the party for this port. They propose soon to pay a professional visit to Salem and Albany We can cheerfully commend them to the public favor and would bespeak crowded houses

Notes from Clackamas.

SUNDAY April 8 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The weather has been very balmy and pleasant the past few days and the farmers in this vicinity are preparing for their spring work with the seeming intention of doing much in the way of raising bread stuffs for the Russ and Briton, while they fight for the piece de Europe

There is a prospect of quite an exodus from this part of Clackamas county for Eastern Oregon and Washington territory Some are going for speculation while others are going to try to secure homes and locations, and quite here that we would not know of the coming election but for those who are candidates for office

The school in this place closed to day The county superintendent Rev J W Sellwood was present, and entertained us with a few remarks which were well received One efficient teacher Mr E F Cooler, who has conducted the school for the past six months he is well liked by both pupils and patrons It is our intention to try and keep him for the coming summer school W F

A Californian View of It.

From the San Francisco Chronicle

Aaron A Sargent does not like the senate judiciary committee's bill to bring the Pacific Railway companies to the honest payment of the interest and principal of the bonds loaned them by the United States He is afraid it might deteriorate the efficiency of the roads Unless the Mitchell bill better because that was dictated by the corporation managers and is simply no remedy at all but increases their advantage over the government The net profits of the Central Pacific since the road has been in operation are estimated at over $80 000 000 The judiciary committee's bill asks them to pay less than one quarter of these net profits yearly and would in no way deteriorate the efficiency of the road If the company should I have kept its grasping fingers off such dead horse enterprises as the Southern Pacific in which this have squandered the earnings of the Central Pacific in the hope of keeping all competitors out of the way When Sargent supports the Mitchell bill he opposes the wishes of his constituents and insults their intelligence and he knows this to be true

The Settlement with the Pacific Railroads.

From the New York Times

The longer the settlement is delayed the harsher its terms will probably become The account must be balanced some day, and if it can not be made to adjust it in an amicable spirit the company is can not complain that their remonstrances are unheeded The first mistake they made was the failure to initiate the formation of a sinking fund Still the country will be their friend if they rest satisfied with the championship of the Matthewses the Jerseys, and the Mitchells of the senate and allow the debt to close without an earnest attempt to effect a settlement They have more to hope from a moderation of the judiciary committee's bill than from a fight to secure its defeat

Ben's Sentiment.

An eastern lady has in her autograph album a characteristic inscription by blind old Ben Wade "May young southern dinner bad written—presumably after a long evening spent in her company 12 40 A M—Time was made for slaves and signed the still greatly idiotic sentiment Beneath at the old war horse wrote, "And eternity for slave owners"

Important announcement.

FOR SPRING GOODS!

Men, Youths, and Boys.

IN ADDRESSING THE PUBLIC ON THIS OCcasion we do so with more confidence than at any time since our advent into business. Our career in business has been singularly successful, having attained a degree of enviable notoriety for straightforward dealing selling goods at a slight margin on importers prices

Our STOCK for the Spring Trade is one of the best selected and the most comprehensive ever before offered to the people of Oregon—bought on the most advantageous terms and embracing every line in the trade

In disposing of this immense stock our conduct shall be guided by the same golden rule as heretofore—Honest dealing and the Smallest Living Profits.

Our patrons embrace a large number of the Northwestern population and in sending out our

we hope to see or hear from all our old friends and as many new ones as wish to avail themselves of the opportunity of purchasing goods cheaper than ever before offered in the Metropolis of the North west

Our facilities this year have been peculiarly favorable for purchasing having through our friends of the Bay City and the chance of picking up special lines suitable for this market, at prices for which manufacturers could not begin to produce them This in a great measure is caused by the almost general stagnation of business in the leading markets of the United States, and more directly affecting the Pacific States, from the hard times they have had and are having in San Francisco The consequence is the merchants there must unload their heavy stocks and in many cases at a great sacrifice;

The delegation of Gentiles sent from Salt Lake City to Washington to represent the anti Mormon element presented a long letter to the president on the 27th ult, requesting the removal of Emery the present incumbent, and the appointment of some competent person in his place. They charge that he is a plant toot of the Mormons

At Seattle doubt is expressed as to whether Capt. Starr has obtained the contract for carrying the daily mail from Tacoma to Victoria. It is now stated that at the time the bids were opened the postmaster general ruled that the bid of Smith & Jackman of Fort Townsend, which was some $10 000 less than that of Capt Starr, could not be accepted because the former were not the owners of the steamers proposed to be used in carrying the mails, they being merely lessees of the boats. It is now affirmed that the order has been rescinded by the postmaster general and the contract awarded to Smith & Jackman All this, however, is not yet substantiated

Rich Ores in Montana

[From the Helena Herald

The working assays of ten tons of ore recently taken from the Penobscot mine shows a value of $1,500 per ton Another lot of twenty tons just taken from the shaft of the mine mills at the rate of $1 000 per ton As incredible as the statement may appear it is confidently asserted that the five stamp mill and arastra now at work will show a gold product from the Penobscot of close on to $100,000 within the next thirty days

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

SATURDAY EVENING April 6 1878

Gold in New York, 101¼

Legal tenders in Portland—buying 98½ selling 99¼

Silver in coin 2¼@3½ per cent. discount

But few features of interest except the increase in the demand caused by the more active condition of trade, have been shown by the local money market, during the week now closing Currency rules firm, owing to its scarcity and at a figure above its corresponding value in New York Silver coin has also appreciated somewhat

Gold in New York has fluctuated but little and closes at 101¼ It is reported that the rate of sterling exchange in San Francisco and at the east favors the export of gold, and any further advance in exchange would cause a good deal to be taken for Europe and bring up the gold premium

Trade matters generally have undergone no change to-day Merchants are quite busily engaged in the filling of orders and the shipment of goods to various parts of the interior Prices for imported merchandise and for articles of home production are quite steady The wheat market shows an unsettled feeling which is quite likely to continue until political affairs in Europe are more definitely determined in their course

[From the Chicago Times]

The illegal high schools established for the benefit of the select few at the cost of a common school fund which belongs to the many must be discontinued The illegal belles lettres and ornamental music and drawing in the common schools must be expelled from them The common school must be squared with the constitutional requirement of common schools to furnish at public cost a common school education and not an academic education, or an education in fancy arts and foreign languages

MATTHEW P DEADY

U S District Judge for Oregon

BB DENNISON & BEESE Counsel for

Idaho Freight—The Umatilla Route.

[From the Idaho Statesman April 4]

Mr. Miner, of the firm of Snodgrass & Miner merchants of La Grande, Oregon called upon us on Tuesday Mr. Miner is here on behalf of the contemplated enterprise of returning to the Boise City and Umatilla route for the transportation of all kinds of merchandise sold in Idaho He informs us that a permanent arrangement has been made and a contract entered into with the O S N Co, by which that company agrees to a scale of special rates for Idaho freight Arrangements have also been effected with the owners of the toll road and ferries between Boise City and Umatilla for greatly reduced rates of toll and ferriage for all teams engaged in freighting to Idaho

By the present arrangement the O S N Company engages to carry Idaho freight from Portland to Umatilla at $15 per ton actual weight This reduction, together with the reduced rates of toll and ferriage, will enable shippers to bring freight from San Francisco to Boise City via Portland and Umatilla for $4 50 per cwt, actual weight, on all classes of goods or from Portland to Boise City via Umatilla for $4 00 per cwt

The present rates of freight paid by the merchants of Boise City per railroad and teams via Ashton average about $6 00 on all kinds of goods.
